

The SVT process that creates HydraSonic™ Crystalline water!

HydraSonic™ Crystalline water,” is engineered water that returns dead water to its natural energetic state by the SVT process developed by Commit to be Fit Inc. which has given Emerald Earth LLC the exclusive global use of the SVT Process to create innovative beverages globally. It’s not like water that’s been subjected to the damaging effects of modern technology. Modern science and technologies have done more to alter and contaminate water than at any time in the history of man. Modern methods of treating and transporting water only serve to corrupt, de-energize and ultimately destroy water’s many amazing, life-enhancing qualities as HydraSonic™ Crystalline water is optimized for cellular absorption!

Water in its natural form carries within its perfect structure all that is needed to serve as a catalyst for igniting all life in its myriad forms. Most of us know that clean, natural water is better for us, and that spring and rainwater are the best waters of all. Rain falling from the sky or bubbling up from the ground is refreshed, energized and transformed by the rays of the sun, the swirling motion of the wind, the electrical charge of lightening, and by the natural design of the earth and atmosphere themselves.

The “SVT” process renews water in much the same way. This is due through the advancement of a breakthrough 21st century quantum water processing technology featuring a proprietary multi stage ultra-purification and revitalization process*. The “SVT” process recreates one of nature’s greatest miracles of regeneration and renewal by mimicking the natural flow of water as it falls to the earth as rain, or cascades down a cool mountain stream, creating a measurable increase in water’s ability to hydrate and nourish people, plants and animals*. Think of HydraSonic™ Crystalline water as a self-organized liquid crystal composed of the aforementioned extremely tiny “clusters” of water in perfect geometric shapes that remain forever in motion relative to one another*.

Together, these clusters have the unique ability to receive, store, conduct and convey information and bio-electric energy throughout the entire body, revitalizing and regenerating each and every cell. To simplify, water carries within its molecular framework most of what is needed to sustain and support all life on earth, as HydraSonic™ Crystalline water is able to perform all these functions in a highly efficient way*.
