

What are the main differences of HydraSonic™ crystalline water and regular bottled water?

HydraSonic™ crystalline water is created by a natural based process that creates ultra-pure, pH balanced, crystalline water just as in nature, allowing deep, cellular intake through the aquaporin channels, the floodgates to hydration. HydraSonic™ crystalline water is optimized for deep cellular absorption.

HydraSonic™ crystalline water is one the purest engineered waters in the world. It averages 001 TDS as most purified bottled water ranges from 005 TDS to 010 TDS or more. TDS means Total Dissolved Solids.

HydraSonic™ crystalline water is pH balanced without adding non-organic minerals as all other brands of purified bottled water have to add minerals to get the water pH balanced. These non-organic minerals are the same that clog pipes in your home plumbing and can be clogging your arteries as well.

HydraSonic™ crystalline water is lab tested to be ultra-pure, pH balanced and non-corrosive. Nearly all other major brands of purified municipal bottled water, spring and ordinary tap water do not have these properties.

HydraSonic™ crystalline water has a unique permanent set of properties that municipal tap water, other major brands of purified bottled water and natural spring water do not have.

Here are a just few unique properties of HydraSonic™ crystalline water:

- *Total TDS is under 001 PPM
- *pH average of 7.0
- *Non-corrosive
- *Emulsifies fat very quickly
- *Holds more oxygen
- *Lower surface tension that delivers nutrients & oxygen faster
- *High solubility-the ability for products to dissolve more completely

The main difference between HydraSonic™ crystalline water and most all other brands of purified municipal bottled water is when you drink HydraSonic™. The multiyear testing by strength and endurance athletes, noticed that the water is very smooth and soft when they drink it, it didn't bloat in your stomach during competition and it stopped cramping! In addition, a Landmark private two year study at a Fletcher High School has shown the same results that you don't cramp whenever you're in a sporting event and they used less Gatorade™ as well! If you put some on your hands or face; it absorbs incredibly fast and leaves your skin extremely soft and moisturized as the water's surface tension is very low compared to municipal tap water and purified municipal bottled water.

HydraSonic™ crystalline water emulsifies fat very quickly as you can test this by putting a drop of olive oil in a glass of regular tap water or any brand of bottled water and HydraSonic™ water. A few hours later you will notice how HydraSonic™ water has broken down the oil into very small specks' of oil compared to the other water. This property is with HydraSonic™ water and none of the other major brands of purified municipal bottled water have this unique ability to emulsify fat so quickly!

HydraSonic™ crystalline water has been lab tested to be non-corrosive. This means it will not cause rust inside a metal environment or cause any degradation of any environment the water is held in. The other brands of bottled water are corrosive in nature and you see this when you put their water inside any metal container and in time it will start rusting.

To date, there has been over fourteen years of human studies about the unique hydration qualities of HydraSonic™ water. We know of no other major brand of purified bottled water that has ever conducted any testing prior to launching their bottled water. In our opinion, there are no special properties of their water as it's just basically "Dead" water that causes bloating and slouching around in your stomach and has no true therapeutic benefits to those whom consume this type of water on a daily basis.

On the other hand...during the many years of human testing, those who consumed HydraSonic™ crystalline water have experienced many profound benefits as this is the main reason why HydraSonic™ is so vastly different to all of the other major brands of bottled water

What is HydraSonic™ functional water?

Basically functional water technically refers to water with exposure to some sort of energy fields either through a vortex action or electromagnetic fields*.

However, in common terms functional water is basically a name given to water that provides health benefits to the individual who drinks it*.

Water plays a vital role in healthy human body function. We can last a lot longer without food than we can without water, upon which our bodies are absolutely critically dependent. For almost all of our biological processes, from nutrient transportation to waste removal, digestion, temperature regulation, immune support, solvents, enzymes and reactions, water is absolutely essential to life. Dehydration alone is associated with numerous increased health risks including increased risk of colon cancer and breast cancer.

Water simply on its own, if clean, can provide great nutritional and medicinal value. Recently however, new advances in water processing technology have allowed scientists to progress and further raise the functional value of certain waters that are now available to drink. The major recent innovation that has excitingly raised the nutritional and functional value of drinking water by a great degree has been the breakthrough discovery of HydraSonic™ bottled water*.

HydraSonic™ bottled water, also known as crystalline water, has raised the functional value of water by providing consumers with water that has been developed to fight signs of aging, boost energy levels, increase cellular communication, cleanse and detoxify the body at the cellular level along with many other unique properties reported by over eight years of human testing!

HydraSonic™ bottled water is created a 21st century water processing technology developed by Commit to be Fit Inc. that creates ultra-pure, crystalline water*. Because of its multiple additional health benefits, HydraSonic™ bottled water is the new revolution in bottled water, transforming dead bulk water into a complete rejuvenating and revitalizing phenomenon that you can drink anytime*.
